All that occurred Friday seems to a kind of retribution which the Fulton baseball club wished to visit on the heads of the Hickman team for what they claim was unjust treatment in Thursday's game here. We believe the point d'appui which they use for their complaint was a certain decision by Um pire O'Brien-entirely in accord with the rules of baseball-at first base when the bases were full and a runner was touched with the ball off first base retiring the side, and preventing furthr scoring. It was hard but fair. DYERSBURG HERE SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Today and Friday the team from Clinton will open the season with the local baseball team at the Mengel Park. Rumor has it that the boys from Clinton has welded a strong team together and will put up a hard fight.

Saturday the strong aggregation from Dyersburg comes to lock horns with the local outfit, playing here Saturday and Sunday. These will no doubt be two of the hardest games which the locals will have during the season, as the strong team which the Tennessee lads got to gether last season will be remembered and it is said that they have corralled an even stronger team this year than last. Sunday night the team leaves for their first extended road trip playing Monday at Tuesday in El Dorado, Ill., Wednesday in Lawrenceville, Ill., and Thursday in Harrisburg. Ill., returning Friday for a series with Paris, Tenn.,

A famous tire-and a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season

The stripe around the sidewall is registered as a trade-mark in the U. S.

How you can measure tire value in 1921 —

OFTEN it's surprising the number of different tire views that come out in a chance talk at the curb or in the leisure of a friend's garage.

> Almost every day you come across the man human enough to believe he can outguess the cut-price tag on "joblots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks."

His opposite is the hardpan car owner who sticks year in and year out to a standard brand as the only rational economy.

Many will remember the scarcity of U. S. Tires last year.

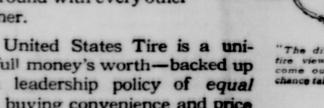

A hardship at the time, but a benefit now. There are no U.S. Tires to be worked off - no accumulations - no forced selling of any U.S. brand - no shipping of tires from one part of the country to another to "find a market."

There are 92 U.S. Factory Branches. Each one gets its share of U.S. Tires. There is a broad, constant, even distribution of U.S. Tires always going on from these Branches to the dealer.

Buy a U.S. Tire anywhere —in a community of 500 people or even less-and you get a fresh, live tire of current production-with all the original service and mileage the factory put into it.

The owner of a medium or light-weight car stands on equal ground with every other car owner.

Any United States Tire is a universal full money's worth-backed up with a leadership policy of equal quality, buying convenience and price for everybody.

John Moran, with four loaded barges Moran is not a government boat, but han in tow four government barges. This was her initial trip since coming off the ways, practically rebuilt all ver, and was making a tryout to New Orleans. The barges are loaded with two thousand tons each. These steamers have been working there since the first of the week and were reported aground also on Tuesday night-all but the Advent. They have been attempt ing to cut the sand from under the parge, the other boats trying to swing the barge back. The barge, however, s said to be a good piece from the channel and, adding to their serious situation, the river is also falling. Captain Grasty, representing the Molasses Produets Co., whose merchandise is loaded on the barges, arrived here Tuesday and went directly to the boats. Capt Nowland, of St Louis, head of the Government Barge Line, has been there for several days doing all possible to relieve the situation. The outcome is doubtful. The barge is a steel one and valued at between $30,000 and $40,000. The cargo has not, as yet, been re-

OLD-TIME FENCE

Stone Walls, Split Rails and Hedges Rapidly Being Discarded by Farm Owners.

MOST IMPORTANT ELEMENTS

Essential That Ends and Corners Be Erected Firm and Solid-Posts Should Be Large Enough to Give Needed Strength.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Of all the changes wrought in the farming industry during the last century none is more noticeable than that in fencing, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. All over the Eastern United States there are hundreds of miles of stonewall fences which are monuments to the patience and thoroughness of earlier generations. Overlapping this territory, and extending west, are found fences of split rails, with their A capias in the hands of the sheriff familiar weeds and berry bushes in

The farmer usually finds today that barbed-wire or woven-wire fence will best serve his ends for new construction, and at the same time cost least. Barbed wire is used on large stock w $40,000.00 dormitory for boys at animals through wire cutting is not coming more into use.

Ends and Corners. The manner in which the fence is erected has much to do with its servce. The ends and corners are by far the most important elements of a fence. It is essential that they remain firm and solid in order to hold the fence rigid. The first thing to consider is placing the corners. The posts used should be large enough to give sufficient strength; they should be set deep enough to prevent heaving by the action of frost; they should be braced from each direction of tension by a stout rail about 12 feet long. Metal and concrete posts are on the and early spring in wild grass | market, but a great many farmers cling be approximately 4 inches in diameter. Various woods are used, including sage orange, locust, red cedar, mulberry and burr oak. They should be moved, and to get the longest life hould be dipped in creosote at a temperature of about 220 degrees, long enough for the preservative to penetrate the wood. These posts are best set in the spring after the frost is out and when the ground is soft. On level ground they may be driven with a maul, but in depressions should be anchored down by 2 by 4 cross pieces spiked on the bottom of the post before setting. The distance between posts depends on the location of the fence and the numbers and kinds of stock to be turned, the average in field fences being about 20 feet.

To construct a woven-wire fence properly it is necessary to have a woven-wire stretcher, a singlewire stretcher to be used in attaching the fence to the end posts, a pair of wire cutters, a barbed-wire stretcher, a splicing tool, and hammers for stapling and fastening the wire. Barbed and woven wire may be unrolled by attaching the reel to the back of a wagon or by running a bar through the core and drawing it along with a horse Stretching the Wire. After the wire is unrolled it should be drawn up to the line of posts and freed from adhering trash. The stretchers are then attached and the line wires drawn until they are so taut that they can just be pressed together. Some slack may be allowed for uneven ground. In fastening the wire on the posts the line wire should be kept as nearly horizontal as possible and alwoven-wire fence is not complete with-wer and crowding it down.

KILL THE POTATO BUG

The Colorado potato bugs are getting n their deadly work now. If you will xamine your Irish potatoes you will find great numbers of them crawling about over the potato vine depositing vellow patches of eggs under the leaves. These eggs will hatch in a week's time, and one beetle is capable of laying as much as 200 eggs.

There is only one way to successfully combat these rogues, and that is by feeding them a little arsenate of lead or paris green. Of the two poisons I ecommend arsenate of lead, as it has less free acid in it and will, therefore, burn the foliage less, and one is just as effective as the other, as it is arsenic that kills in both cases. Use arsenate of lead as follows: Use bout three tablespoonsful of arsenate of lead to a gallon of water; or, if a larger quantity is desired, use 1 pound o 50 gallons of water. This solution should be sprayed onto the tops of the potato vines. It should be kept well tirred at all times. It may be applied n the powdered as follows: Mix arsenate of lead with flour in the ration of one part arsenate of lead and nine parts of flour, and put the mixture in a heesecloth and sift it over the tops of the potatoes. Paris green may be used
